The Friendly Town

WELCOME TO OUR TOWN

No matter how long you stay, you'll feel like you belong.

We may be small but we have a rare and precious quality, just like the gold laden ground into which our community, literally, dug its foundations. The heady days of a gold rush followed by the steady growth of an industrious agricultural industry helped create a quality of life and sense of community that we still enjoy today: a place where everyone has the opportunity to prosper, where everyone can feel that they belong, where even passing visitors feel better for having spent a little time with us.

A beautifully maintained streetscape complemented by numerous parks and gardens suggest the pride we feel in our community, while Lake Centenary, our boutique Town Hall Theatre, heated swimming pool and new medical centre hint at the quality of life our residents and visitors enjoy.

Our visitor attractions are headlined by one of the finest aviation museums in the world, a rural museum that features our heritage and the only NSW Ambulance Service Museum.

Acknowledged as one of NSW friendliest towns, we welcome you to Temora.

TOWN HISTORY

The first inhabitants of our region were the Wiradjuri People who lived a modest life off the land. This was something shared by the first European pioneers to venture out here. They were followed by settlers who leased large tracts of land for grazing and selectors who bought smaller acreages for farming. By 1847 Temora Station had been established, and our district's European history had begun.

Raised on Yellow Metal and Green Pastures

For all their pioneering efforts it was the yellow metal under the ground rather than the green pastures above it that built the foundations of the town we are now. Temora Gold Field was proclaimed on the 4th June, 1880 and within five weeks there were around 15,000 prospectors on the field. Between them they eventually dug out over 4000kg of gold (worth almost $200 million dollars at today's prices) on the site.

Like all gold rushes ours didn't last, petering out within the decade and Temora looked like becoming a ghost town until our big fertile countryside came to its rescue. Many of the hopefuls who came in search of easy money under the ground, stayed and farmed it instead, creating a new, more sustainable source of wealth through wheat and wool.

Together they began to build a thriving agricultural industry that really blossomed after the arrival of the railway.

Our new prosperity also attracted an influx of hard working pioneers of German decent from Victoria, South Australia and the Southern Riverina who settled around Trungley Hall. Their work ethic, and egalitarian attitude towards others, as they cleared the land and built a new life, also established a strong sense of community and belonging that we still enjoy today.

Our history is all around you. You can see it, feel it and touch it. It's written all over our many fine period buildings, from banks to pubs, churches to cottages that line our wide streets.

Whats in a Name

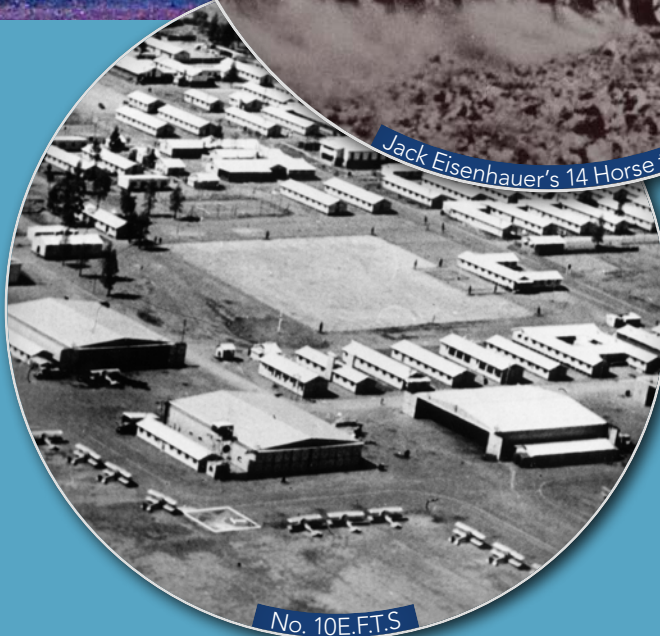

The name "Temora" is of Gaelic origin. It is one of the many variations of "Tara", the name of the traditional stronghold of the High Kings of Ireland. The name "Temora" first appears in the 1700s as the title of an epic poem attributed to the Gaelic poet, Ossian.

Miners on Diorite Hill

Jack Eisenhower's 14 Horse team

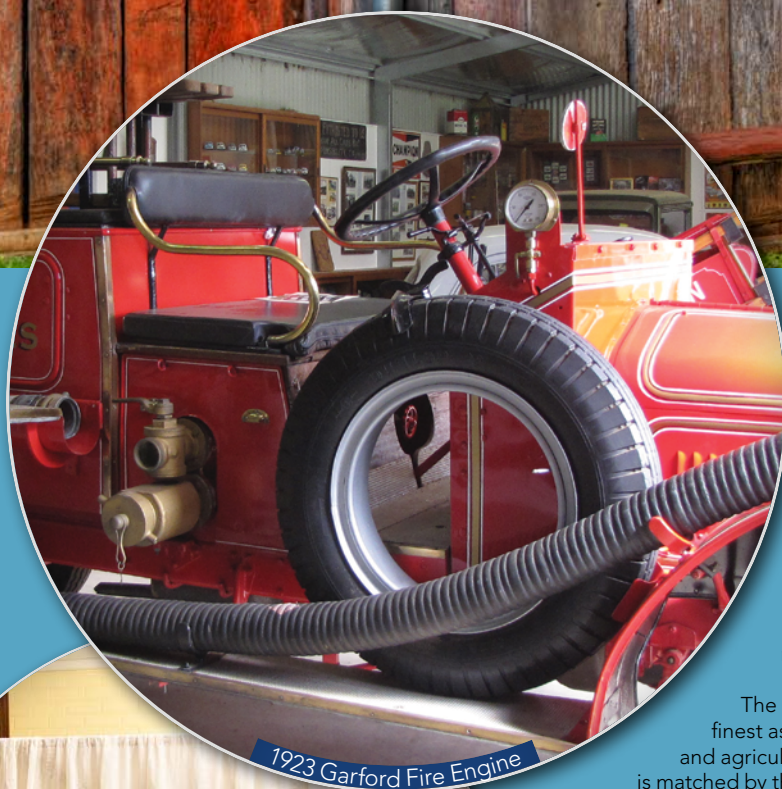

No. 10E.F.T.S

John Donald McCansh, an agent of the Bank of Australasia, knew nothing of this when he named his new sheep station.

When gold was discovered on the station in 1880 local papers speculated upon the origin of the name prompting Mr. McCansh to write to the Warwick Argus.

"I took up the country for a sheep run in 1847; my sole companion being Valentine Lawler...We could not ascertain the native name of the place...therefore, rather than give it an English name, I called it "Temora", the native name of a property (on the Lower Hunter river) near to which I had lived for some years previously. I gave the station the name especially because (I thought) it was aboriginal and I liked it. I did not know at the time, nor for years afterwards, that Temora was a name in Ossian's poems."

RURAL MUSEUM

1923 Garford Fire Engine

A Time Machine of Memories and Mechanical Miles

'The way we were', the little things we thought we'd forgotten, happily called to mind - that's the magic of a visit to the Temora Rural Museum.

Set as they are, in beautifully landscaped grounds, the diverse displays and exhibitions of the museum indulge the imagination of the visitor. A kaleidoscope of the quaint and the curious, by any measure, Temora can claim one of Australia's most outstanding rural museums.

The Rural Museum's agricultural collection brings together one of the finest assembles of restored and working tractors, stationary engines and agricultural machinery that is to be found. The fact that this standard is matched by the museum's collections of rocks and minerals, textiles and its dedicated ambulance museum assures the visitor of a most memorable experience.

For nearly half a century the museum has steadily grown, adding the hardwood slab house that was Sir Donald Bradman's first home, a worker's cottage restored to reflect life in the 1920s, a one-room public school, bush church, public hall, printing works and a flour mill.

Temora's gold mining origin is recalled by the Pirate King mine's five-head ore crusher, which is maintained in working order. The rich finds among our goldfield's total of four tonnes of the precious metal, are represented by a replica of the huge "Mother Shipton Nugget". Together the nugget's three pieces of ragged quartz rock yielded 305 ounces of fine gold, worth more than $380,000 if sold today.

The memorabilia of the famous boxing promoter and showman, Jimmy Sharman, and a tribute to Australian pacing champion the 'Temora Tornado', Paleface Adios, are prominent among our local exhibits, hinting at the long tradition of sporting prowess upon which Temora prides itself.

Showcase room

Temora Ambulance Museum

As the only dedicated ambulance museum in eastern Australia that opens its doors to visitors almost every day of the year, the Temora Ambulance Museum showcases over 120 years of Australian ambulance heritage. With the support of the ambulance services of NSW and the ACT, the Paramedics Union and the wider fraternity of serving and retired officers, Temora presents an unmatched exhibition of vehicles and equipment spanning the decades.

Temora Rock & Mineral Museum

One man's life work – his love and his legacy – that's what Athol Stean's Temora Rock & Mineral Museum represents for his community – a gift to share with the nation. Thousands of meticulously labelled specimens gathered from across the globe inviting you to experience the fascination he discovered in geology.

Temora Fire Brigade Exhibition

A tribute to a century of service to the Temora community, the fire brigade exhibition features a working 1923 Garford fire engine similar to one used locally. The development of fire-fighting technology can be traced through improvements evident in the protective clothing and equipment in the well presented displays.

Temora Local & Family History Research Centre

Co-located with the Rural Museum, the Local & Family History Research Centre assists local residents and visitors with a vast range of family and local heritage enquiries. The Centre is always adding to its impressive body of research resources and also taps into the collection maintained by the museum's unique Temora Community Archive – a treasure trove of original documents and photographs stored in a purpose-built underground vault.

Willo's Wiradjuri Keeping Place

A thoughtfully composed tribute to the first people of the Temora district, Willo's Wiradjuri Keeping Place introduces the visitor to a respectful appreciation of the pre-European society to whom the care of the district was entrusted for many thousands of years.

Valentine Lawler Gallery

As a temporary exhibition space, this gallery at the entrance to the Rural Museum hosts an ever changing program of art and craft exhibitions, social events and displays drawn from the Rural Museum's many and various collections.

Annual Exhibition

A date to circle on your calendar. Each year, on the second Saturday in March, the Rural Museum presents its Annual Live Exhibition. A celebration of sights and sounds of days gone by fills a day of colour and activity. The working exhibits of the museum spring to life in a packed program of demonstrations and parades while numerous visiting artisans demonstrate their skill and creativity, crowning another year for this extraordinary museum.

TEMORA AVIATION MUSEUM

See flying from a new angle

Temora has a rich and noteworthy aviation history having been home to the No. 10 Elementary Flying Training School (10EFTS) set up by the Royal Australian Air Force in May 1941. 10EFTS was the largest and longest lived of the flying schools during WWII with more than 10,000 personnel involved and upwards of 2,400 pilots trained. At its peak the unit contained a total of 97 de Havilland Tiger Moth aircraft and ceased operation on 12 March 1946.

Since then, Temora has continued its aviation heritage for a growing number of sport aviation activities including gliding, parachuting, aerobatics, ultra-light aircraft operations and model aircraft.

The award winning Temora Aviation Museum is home to a world-class flying collection of Australian ex-military aircraft. Here you can:

ATTRACTIONS & EVENTS

A little about our Town

Aviation activities may be one of our most popular attractions for visitors but once you're here you'll discover there's far more to our friendly country town than just the flying machines decorating our skies. We've got museums, a boutique cinema, a wide range of excellent sporting and recreational facilities, a thriving CBD and a year round calendar of special events, all wrapped in the natural beauty of the area which changes its colours from season to season.

So whether you're coming for a weekend, a short break, or for a longer stay with family and friends, you'll always have plenty of interesting, fun things to see and do while you're here.

Paleface Adios

Lake Centenary

St Mary's Presbytery

Paleface Adios and Harness Racing

Paleface Adios is a legend in Australian harness racing, up there with Sir Don Bradman as a truly remarkable sporting hero. He won 104 races and was placed a further 68 times in his extraordinary career. Among his great victories were two Lord Mayor's Cups, The Miracle Mile, two Uhr Championships and the Winfield Cup in Melbourne, earning his owners well over half a million dollars in prize-money. He also won the hearts of Australia's racing public and his hometown. A statue of the baldy-faced 'Temora Tornado' stands proudly in the centre of town.

Harness racing has always been a strong sport in Temora, and the owner trainers and trotting studs continue to have a big presence in the district. Regular meetings are held during summer and are an important feature on the town's calendar of events.

Lake Centenary

Water sports are a passion of many people living in and visiting Temora. Lake Centenary, just north of the town, is a 55 acre man-made (another example of our hardworking, innovative community spirit) aquatic playground for power boating, waterskiing, sailing, canoeing or just swimming.

It's been so popular that since its creation Lake Centenary has nurtured several world-class skiers. It also features a V8 Jetsprint boat racing course, which has hosted national and state championships. The lake has an excellent boat ramp for easy access, as well as landscaped picnic facilities for relaxing waterside gatherings.

Nature Reserves

For nature lovers, birdwatchers and bushwalkers, or those just wanting a peaceful escape from town living, there are a number of nature reserves in the shire providing visitors with beautiful, scenic native bush land to enjoy. These include Ingalba Nature Reserve, around 10 kilometres west of Temora, and Pucawan Nature Reserve, a further 6km west. Big Bush Nature Reserve is 15 kilometres northwest of Temora.

As well as being important survivors of native bushland, within a poorly reserved bioregion, these reserves contain several regionally significant plant species and provide a safe, sustainable habitat for a number of threatened animal species.

One of the best, Ingalba Nature Reserve, is easily accessible as it is located on the Burley Griffin Way. It's a peaceful place to visit and a beautiful way to appreciate the value of how this former state forest and logging site is now being conserved for future generations.

Heritage Buildings

If you're interested in period architecture and its part in local history there's plenty to impress you in Temora. In fact, 370 of our buildings are regarded as historically significant to the shire. You'll find the Edwardian, Federation and Art Deco periods well represented throughout the town, and in nearby Ariaiah Park, in the shape of banks, churches, hotels, shopping arcades, the post office and fire station, as well as many impressive private homes.

Personal Discovery Tours

Enjoy the opportunity to make some personal discoveries with a self-guided walking tour around the town. The Temora Visitor Information Centre will happily provide you with a 'Stroll Around The Streets' brochure and heritage maps of historic sites and brochures on Ariaiah Park and Trungley Hall, giving you directions and insights into the historic architecture which features prominently in Temora and surrounding areas.

The Town Hall Theatre

Temora's community theatre, in the heart of town, blends state-of-the-art facilities with country hospitality, offering locals and visitors a big city cinematic experience right here in downtown Temora.

ARIAH PARK

Just 20 minutes west of Temora is the charming village of Ariah Park

Ariah Park Bulk Haulage

Coolamon St Ariah Park

War Memorial Ariah Park

Only 20 Minutes and a Hundred Years Away

Just 20 minutes west of Temora is the charming village of Ariah Park which seems to exist in another era and at another pace. A village that grew up where the tracks of Cobb & Co coaches and travelling stock crossed, its streets are lined with timeless peppercorn trees that provide languid shade for its town centre, which has changed very little since the height of its prosperity in the roaring 1920s. Even the clocks seem to tick slower here, in rhythm with 'Ariah Park Time' that creates a welcome change of pace to the pressures of big city living and hectic lives.

'A town of wowsers, bowzers and peppercorn trees'

Ariah Park was once known as "The Town of Wowsers, Bowzers and Peppercorn Trees" for its eclectic social mixture of those frowning on pleasure and progress and those enjoying the new fangled automobiles (and petrol bowzers to fuel them) their wealth afforded them, all decorated with luxuriant aromatic peppercorn trees.

Coming into existence in 1850, in a district first settled by big grazing interests, the village of Ariah Park really sprang to life with the arrival of the railway in 1906 which connected it to the main Southern rail line via Temora in 1906. The village was officially recognised the year after and soon began to flourish.

The peppercorn trees were planted in 1917, the same year Ariah Park took a special place in the development of the Australian grain industry when, for the first time anywhere in rural Australia, a shipment of wheat was loaded in bulk for rail transport to the seaboard. A restored railway carriage provides a fitting memorial to the community's role as the birthplace of bulk grain haulage in Australia. Not surprisingly, the still standing silos followed shortly after, being built in 1919.

The Federation style Ariah Park Hotel has been untouched for over 90 years. The tile work of the hotel's interior preserves the sense of prosperous expectation in which the village was established.

A convivial highlight of any visit to Ariah Park is to drop into "Second Glance" a quaint community centre located in a restored billiard room complex. It's where both visitors and locals can meet over a friendly cuppa, share community information and buy a curiosity from the ever changing array of bric-a-brac and old wares available. It's open most days from 10am - 1pm.

The development of both the 'Echoes of Ariah Park' museum and 'Second Glance' brings the heritage of the district to life and adds a new dimension to the Ariah Park experience, a glimpse of 1920s living tucked away in modern rural Australia.

Eating in Ariah Park

At the Ariah Park Bowling Club you'll find Benny's Chinese Restaurant. Open for dinner from Thursday - Sunday and lunch from Friday - Sunday.

Camping In The Past

The quiet and secure Ariah Park Camping Ground is situated in the south-west corner of the Ariah Park Recreation Ground and has 24 powered sites and another 30 unpowered sites.

Fully self-contained motorhomes and caravans are welcome, while there is a small charge for the hot showers and powered sites (Powered site and showers $10 per night) Toilets and tap water are adjacent to the sites. Please note that fire buckets are allowed in season, and dogs are allowed if on a leash.

Mortgage Stress? What Mortgage Stress?

The cost of real estate is top of mind with everyone who lives in a big city. It's a constant topic of conversation, fuelled by daily reports on interest rates, property values and rent rises. Even those who own their homes outright are still being weighed down by the ever-increasing costs of living in the city.

The relatively low cost of good real estate in Temora is a life-changing motivation for moving here. It not only has the potential to liberate you from mortgage slavery, it can also liberate the rest of your life by freeing up time currently devoted to working for the bank, by giving you peace of mind, and by opening up other employment options.

Just Look at What You Can Buy Here for What You Get There

If you're looking to buy a new home for yourself, or considering an investment property, you get extraordinary value for your money in Temora. You also have a good choice of styles, sizes and periods from acreages, beautiful Victorian and Federation homes to modern family homes and units, as well as many commercial properties with living quarters.

Lifestyle block (5 acres + house) - $300/$500-800k

Federation - $280-350k

Victorian - $300-500k

Californian bungalows - $150-250k

1940s & 1950s fibro homes/soldier settlements - $90-150k

Weather board - $70-150k

Modern family homes - $250-450k

Duplexes - $180-250k

Units - $180-240k

Commercial (shop + living) - $150-300k

What Would Your Life Be Like Without a Mortgage?

Let's do a few simple sums and see how they can add up to a much different life for you. The average mortgage in Australia is now around $300,000 (based on most recent ABS statistics) costing about $1,800 a month in repayments, or nearly $22,000 a year, after tax. If you're in the middle income tax rate you have to earn over $28,000 just to make those mortgage payments.

Now, if your property's worth say $600,000 and you owe $300,000 then by selling it and moving to Temora, you'll arrive here with $300,000 in the bank (or more if you have a smaller mortgage) and you won't have a mortgage hanging around your neck.

So with that sort of money you can swap your average suburban house for one on a five acre block, or a lovely Federation family home, or a spacious Californian Bungalow, and you can own it outright. No mortgage. No pressure. How good is that?

Now consider what not having to pay that mortgage does for your finances and your quality of life. For a start you'll be saving that $22,000 every year. Or you could decide to earn $28,000 a year less. Would that change the kind of work you have to do, or give you the opportunity to start earlier something you prefer that earns less? Would you need to work fewer hours, or fewer days? You could spend more time with your family or enjoying personal interests more regularly? Then think of what you could do with that extra $22,000? Longer holidays? A new car? Or maybe a wine cellar?

Find out just how much you can get here, for what you sell there, by contacting our local Real Estate Agents about buying or renting property in Temora.

BUSINESS IN TEMORA

A Pleasure Doing Business with You

If you're thinking of relocating your existing business, or starting one up for the first time, then you should seriously consider tapping into the vitality and opportunities that are here in Temora. We have a thriving, forward-looking business community that continues to grow, with the active support of local Council.

There are a lot of successful businesses and business people in town. Proof of this is the presence of all five major banks and a large credit union in our CBD, along with several large financial and accountancy firms. They always stay where there's money.

There are many choices (and challenges) facing anyone considering relocating or starting a new business, but here in Temora you'll find plenty of people willing to ensure you make the right decisions. We're ready to help you because we want your business to succeed in our community.

The Temora Shire Council shares and encourages this supportive attitude, with its proactive outlook on economic development. Getting the right advice is important, so Council staff are always available to help you get it. We also have many highly qualified, skilled business people operating in our Shire who are happy to help you.

We're all in this together, to create a business environment which encourages innovation and growth, because we want everyone here to prosper.

Areas of Growth

There are many business sectors enjoying strong growth in Temora, with tourism related businesses and the aged care sector being two particularly successful ones in recent years.

As a well-established centre of sports aviation excellence, Temora is also a very competitive area for aeronautical related businesses, with many businesses drawn to the excellent facilities at Temora Aerodrome, and because of the proactive attitude of Temora Shire Council. We can offer you uncontrolled airspace, three runways including a newly constructed 2000 metre runway, a high number of active flying days a year, and a very welcoming aviation and local community. There's also the very bankable benefit of having no landing, take-off or parking fees.

Live with what You Love

If you love flying then imagine how good it would be to have your plane in its own hangar right next to your house, which is only a minute or two away from a free runway? Well, that's what Temora Airpark Estate offers you and your family. The highest level of convenience for aviation enthusiasts in a modern estate layout with all the services and facilities you need at your fingertips.

There are commercial and residential blocks available on the estate, along with aviation industrial areas. A mix of aviation sports and tourism related activities are all welcome in the aerodrome precinct.

Big Land Means Big Business

Our district is blessed with some of the finest agricultural land in the country. It is both beautiful and bountiful with its vivid colours and productive soil. Each season's distinct hues transform the district's landscape, from the glowing greens of emerging crops in autumn and winter, through to the dazzling golden oceans of canola in spring, and the rippling textures of wheat paddocks in summer.

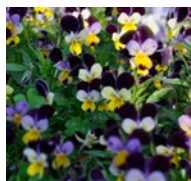

Our broad acre farms, spreading to the horizon in every direction, are the highly productive engine room of our local economy. There's a lot of grain and wool grown here. A real lot. All of which needs to be ploughed and planted, harvested and shorn, stored and shipped, around the country and the world. This has made Temora a regional hub servicing the needs of everyone working in this large-scale industry. Our local agribusinesses include grain merchants, fuel distributors, stock and station agents and one of the largest wool brokers in NSW. We also have all three major machinery dealers – John Deere, Case and New Holland – who also service the equipment they sell to local and surrounding growers.

Livestock also features prominently, producing prime lamb, beef cattle and free-range pigs as well as sheep studs. Many farmers are also producing niche food products such as deer, ostriches and olives, along with local beekeepers producing honey for both the domestic and international markets.

The Temora Agricultural Innovation Centre

A joint venture between the Temora Shire Council and FarmLink Research, the Temora Agricultural Innovation Centre has undertaken many significant trials over the years, with a wide range of wheat and oat varieties being bred on site. It is currently hosting 24 Research and Development organisations, including Australia's largest commercial evaluation of Merino genetics. These partnerships with commercial agricultural companies are being developed to promote and research new technologies in crop protection and adapting agronomy to climate change. In 2012 alone, there were over 14,000 trial plots on-site relating to cereal, canola and pasture varieties, nutrition, disease, weeds, carbon, growth regulators, farming systems, trace elements, time of sowing and water use efficiency.

ARTS & CULTURE

Some of the Best Artists by a Country Mile

Many established and emerging artists live and work in the region, drawing inspiration for their work from the beauty of the surrounding landscape. Among them is acclaimed artist and staunch conservationist, David Schlunke, who is well known for his paintings of local bushland scenes. His works have also been inspired from nature further afield through his close connection with the Amazon rainforest over a number of years. David feels privileged to be able to work from his mud-brick home studio in the Big Bush Nature Reserve in Temora Shire, which allows him to enjoy both his passions.

His work is featured in many national and private collections, and has been hung in the Wynne and Archibald prizes. Artistic talents run in the Schlunke family, as David is the son of one of Australia's former leading writers, Eric Schlunke. Eric wrote many widely published short stories and novels inspired by his own farming life experiences in the Temora district.

The talents and skills of our many artists and craftspeople have found expression in painting, spinning, woodwork, lead-lighting, textile art, doll-making, jewelry making. Local art and craft centre, Patches of Heaven, presents mixed exhibitions of textile and fine arts, while also encouraging all aspects of textile art and craft with regular workshops featuring both visiting and local experts in a range of textile fields. The Temora Ex-Services Memorial Club also displays many fine works by local artists in its bistro throughout the year.

The Temora Arts and Crafts Society hosts an impressive biannual exhibition showcasing local arts and crafts in the Temora Shire Council Chambers. It is complemented by the Anglican Art Show held annually on the October long weekend.

For the Love of Music

The Temora Shire Arts Council, a very active community organization, makes sure we don't miss out on the finer cultural experiences either, by organizing several live musical performances throughout the year. They're held at Temora Town Hall, a venue with excellent acoustics and seating for up to 600 people. Other performances are held throughout the year by local schools and private musical and dance groups.

For information about local artists or craftspeople and future cultural events in Temora Shire, contact our local Visitor Information Centre.
